a little more."

Mr. Blue—"You mark my words, something's going to happen. Look at the Kansas City convention. The farmers sore and resentful. They feel they haven't had a square deal. They think they've been furnishing the banquet while other folks eat it. They see industry restricted by see industry protected by the tariff, labor protected by restrictive immigration, the railroads protected by the rate regulation laws, the merchant marine protect by a subsidy under the guise of government finance aid, banks overwhelmingly prosperous because of the federal reserve act, bank stocks soaring—everybody sitting at the first table while the farmer sits at the second table watching his mortgages climb in ten years from four billion to twelve billion. He thinks that he, the basic industry of the country and the backbone of the nation, is not getting a square deal."

Mr. Gladd—"The farmer shared in the war pros-

Mr. Blue—"Yes, but he got the worst of it when the deflation began. I tell you, things look blue. If the farmer turns against the Republicans and the Democrats will go in, you know from experience what that means. Hard times, invariably. It always hap-pens in Democratic national administrations. A ter-rific panic in 1893 after Cleveland went in—so drastic rific panic in 1893 after Cleveland went in—so drastic and prolonged that it nearly drove the chief sufferers to free silver. They were ready to try anything that promised relief, and look at 1913 and 1914, after Wilson got in and the Underwood tariff went into effect. Factories shutting down, widespread unemployment, bread lines in every big city, business stagnated—everything headed for a gigantic crash which was only prevented by the war and the big war orders. Something terrible always happens when a Democrat gets in the White House, whether it's his fault or not."

Mr. Gladd-"But the Democrats haven't the ghost of a show of getting in."

Mr. Blue—"It looks dark to me. Al Smith has a lot of strength. He's magnetic, with a lot of personal popularity. Hoover has great ability but he's not much of a mixer. He's unresponsive—a cold machine of efficiency."

Mr. Gladd—" Efficient—yes, but where do you get that cold stuff? Millions of people in Europe on both sides of the big war will disagree with you there. He devoted his life for several years relieving distress and suffering. If anybody ever gave a practical

Mr. Blue—"Well, and besides that, his oppor will hammer in the fact that he's spent most of his life abroad—England, Burma, China, Australia, Mexbut in the U. S."

Mr. Gladd—"His personal knowledge of the world ought to be mighty valuable. This nation has dealings with every country and it would be a big asset to have a man at the head of our government who knows those countries. Al Smith has never been outside the country and hardly out of New York. Albany, and Atlantic City."

Mr. Blue—"Well, Hoover hadn't voted in this country for years prior to 1918. In 1920 he didn't know whether he was a Democrat or a Republican—said he was a Liberal. The Democrats will make a lot out of that. I tell you, things don't look so good to me. The big wet states with their urban and cosmo. politan populations will be attracted by Smith's wetness, while the rural districts will be either mut or apathetic. We're likely to have another Demo-cratic administration with hard times. The Democrats will make a lot of the oil scandals."

Mr. Gladd—"The spectacle of Tammany being shocked by the oil scandals or any other kind of a scandal will not be very impressive. Tammany has grown fat on graft. Don't forget that. And furthermore, I'll grant that Hoover is not the old type of more, I'll grant that Hoover is not the old type of back-slapping, glad-handing mixer. He's not the kind to be dashing around promising and trimming. He belongs to the new school of public officials. Coolidge wasn't a glad-hander, and you know what the country thinks of him. Hoover will be purty much the same kind of a President. He has tremendous administrative ability, nobody questions his integrity, and his private life is clean. If anybody can insure a continuation of prosperity, he can, and prosperity is the one thing Americans, Democrat and Republican, most desire. The voter will think a long time before he puts the government into the hands of a party that puts the government into the hands of a party is historically synonymous with hard times. He won't repudiate the men whose policies have been so beneficial to the people."

Mr. Blue-" The farmers, for instance?" Mr. Gladd-"Yes, the farmers, too. They could suffer a good deal more tha. they now are suffering. They suffered more in '93, '94, '95, and '96. They suffered more in 1913 and 1914, before the war boosted prices. When the farmer and his wife go to the polls in November three considerations will prevent them voting for Al Smith, and the greatest of these will be their traditional distrust of Tammany and what Tammany stands for. They have been brought up to hate Tammany and the thought of Tammany the White House will be too much for them Al Smith, with all his popularity in the big cos Without idealizing the motives which have moved the public utility associations in trying to get their case before the public and before the public of temorrow which is now at school, we think they have had some reason and justice for a campaign of defense. There is apparent a tendency among teachers to identify capitalism with undue selfishness and socialism with virtue and the common good. Probably this influence is overrated by alarmed conservatives, for later experience of the real world works to offset the amiable fallacies of theory. Unquestionably publicity agents have overrun the bounds of justifiable propaganda and need to be corrected and curbed. But the hullabaloo against the so-called power trust's conspiracy against guileless youth is also exiggeration, assisted by demagogy, and there is some eason for getting the case for private enterprise a full and fair exposition in our schools. One of our most distinguished scholars has recently said that most teachers are pink in their sympathies and utterances, and his testimony has weight. The event is important also as evidence that aviation, as we said the other day, has already reached a stage of solid practicability, even in very difficult and prolonged adventures and even for women, whose endurance under such protracted strains is not supposed to be as great as man's. It is clear that aviation in the perfection of its material and the available knowledge and experience in operation and navigation has already reached the stage of general practicability, and we may expect it to advance very rapidly no into general use. There is more private flying already than we realize and very soon it will be a common resource of personal pleasure and convenience, as well as of organized transportation and steadily expanding extent.

The passenger car powered with a Red Seal Continental Motor has an extra value which is proven in its performance a value which goes far beyond design and finish.

Never before has the manufacturer of motor cars given so much dollar for dollar value as he does today in his strenuous

Such preference is not gained through any single factor, such as advertising or sales policies, body design or color combinations. It is a matter of "car values." The public is more alive than ever to performance.

For 27 years Continental has devoted its entire energies to building gasoline motors. It has developed facilities for research and manufacture which only immense resources and unequalled experience make possible. The outstanding position which Continental has gained in the automotive world proves conclusively the soundness of specialization.

Through quantity production of a quality product, Continental enables the manufacturer to pass on to the public the benefits which he derives from specialized effort. This means that the same car can be presented at a lower price or a better car at the same price. Whatever the model, whatever the performance requirements, whatever the price class, you will find a Continental equipped motor car which will outvalue its competitors.

First woman to fly the Atlantic depended on Mobiloil "B" for lubrication

A WOMAN flies the Atlantic.

A little more than a year after Colonel Lindbergh blazed his way across the Atlantic in the first non-stop flight, the feat is repeated -by a woman, Miss Amelia Earhart.

The world applauds the courage of this daring girl and her skillful pilot, Wilmer Stultz.

Gargoyle Mobiloil "B" was the oil chosen to lubricate the three Wright Whirlwind engines of the plane.

The Vacuum Oil Company is proud to have played a part in another great conquest

When Commander Byrd flew to the North Polebe used Mobiloil.

When Colonel Lindbergh flew from New York to Paris-be used Mobiloil.

When Colonel Lindbergh flew to Mexico and South America-be used Mobiloil.

When the U.S. Army fliers flew around the world -they used Mobileil. When the U.S. Army filers flew from San Prancisco to Honolulu they used Mobileil. When Art Goebel flew from San Francisco to Honolulu and won the Dole prize be used Mobiloil. And now when Miss Earhart is the first woman to fly the Atlantic she uses Mobiloil.

In every one of these flights, and many others, it has not been a special oil that has been used. In each case it has been Mobiloil "B"-one of the grades of Mobiloil for your automobile that is sold by good dealers everywhere. You are always sure with

"T WISH I could remember how it goes!" How often have thoughts like this risen in your mind the day after hearing a concert, opera, or musical comedy?

Half the pleasure lies in hearing again in memory the airs that have caught your fancy. But how much greater your pleasure if, through piano study, you can enable others to enjoy whatever melody they wish to hear!

In every type of home throughout this continent, children are acquiring this delightful faculty at the keyboard of the tones of this famous instrument that creates a desire to learn, even in those who have never touched a key, and stimulates each little student to greater eagerness and more diligent practice.

But, to appreciate this tonal beauty, you should hear it at a demonstration. Bring the children with you - let us show you our wide variety of Kimball designs-period, classic-modern and reproducing grands, uprights and players. County Judge Jarecki formally ordered a recount of all the votes cast in the April 10 primaries on contested county offices and ward committee men. It followed the decision he announced last month when the test recount was suspended on account of the judicial election.

The judge plans to put thirty teams on the job by Monday and to finish it up in thirty days, which will be fast time.

One hundred precincts all told had been completed last night at the end of the test count, with the following

But the big point is-Heinz Rice Flakes like everybody!

For, by a new process in cerealmaking, Heinz Rice Flakes are naturally "laxatized" through the use of the natural roughage of the rice itself. This means better health -for it imparts to the flakes the qualities of a gentle, natural laxative.

You can get the health qualities of Heinz Rice Flakes in no other cereal food. For Heinz discovered, developed, and owns this new process.

Now the whole family can enjoy good breakfasts and, at the same time, add to the "Joy of Living" through the fun of good health.

Dated July 1, 1928

General: 520 North Michigan Avenue Building will be located on 12,500 square feet of land on the Southwest corner of North Michigan Avenue and East Grand Avenue. Erection of the building will be started impediately and upon completion it will contain sixteen stories above the upper level of Michigan Boulevard, one story on Grand Avenue and one basement. The building will have approximately 150,000 square feet of net rentable area available for high-grade offices, shops and stores.

Location: The building will be the distance of an ordinary city square from the Michigan Avenue Bridge, which is the center of the so-called "bridge-head" area, now the hub of Chicago's greatest building development. Its location is just a short distance north of the Wrigley Buildings, almost immediately across from the new Medinah Athletic Club and diagonally across from the Tribune Tower. Michigan Avenue, which is the most important thoroughfare connecting the south and north sides of Chicago, is a double-decked avenue in this particular neighborhood.

Building: The building will be of modern fire-proof construction of reinforced concrete. The style of the structure will be a free adaptation of the French Renaissance and the north and east facades will be of Bedford stone. The interior finish will conform to the highest standards of modern building architecture with marble floors and corridors throughout. All of the offices and shops will have outside light and air.

Sinking Fund Gold Bends will be the direct obligation of Michigan-Grand Building Corporation and will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a (closed) first mortgage on the leasehold estate and the building to be immediately erected thereon. The leasehold estate and building have been appraised by Wm. H. Babcock & Sons, real estate valuators and accountants of Chicago, as having a value, upon completion and normal oc-cupancy, of $2,546,000, of which amount over $592,000 represents the value of the leasehold. The amount of this loan is, therefore, less than 59% of this appraised value. The ground leases are favorable and extend without revaluation until the year 2027.

Earnings: Wm. H. Babcock & Sons estimate that the total gross annual income of the building will the total gross annual income of the building will be $441,185 and that after allowing 8% for vacancies and contingencies the gross annual income will be $405,890. They further estimate that net earnings available for interest on these bonds, after deducting ground rent, all operating expenses, maintenance, insurance and taxes, will be $220,640 or over 2.25 times the maximum annual interest charges on this issue of bonds and over 2.75 times the average annual interest charges over the life of the issue.

Sinking Fund: The Trust Indenture will provide for a Sinking Fund starting in 1932 which should retire 55% of this issue before maturity.

Safeguards: Completion of the building will be guaranteed by a surety bond issued by The American Surety Company. Both an owner's leasehold policy and a mortgage policy for the full amount of the funded indebtedness will be issued by the Chicago Title and Trust Company, payable to the Trustee. Adequate fire, liability and other insurance will be provided inuring to the benefit of the Trustee and the Bondholders.

With most of the early Idaho lambs marketed within a period of about two weeks, receipts fell below normal after the middle of last week. Arrivals yesterday at 9,000 were smallest for Monday since June, 1927, with only 5,000 in sight for today. Prices held steady, but supplies moved slowly, with tendency lower. Top natives stopped at $16.00, with fairly good Oregon lambs at $15.75. Fed western yearling wethers reached $14.50.

Many investors, knowing the stability of certain types of securities, tend to concentrate on those to the exclusion of others equally sound but less popularly known. As a result their estates lack the necessary diversification.

Because of the wide range of high grade securities offered by Mitchell, Hutchins, this firm is exceptionally able to give information on all types of securities—on the present stability and the prospects of various industries or businesses, on investment trends, on the advantages of certain classes of securities today, on the relative importance to an estate of stocks and bonds.

We will be glad to recommend a list of securiities that will give you effective diversification.

"aggressive program" for world justice and peace, to be secured through the coöperative activities of the major nations in renouncing war as an instrument of national policy, was advocated in a report today to the northern Baptist convention by its committee on international justice and good will.

The comittee report deplored the "confidential circulation of blacklists" by "individuals or organizations which are masquerading under the cloak of patriotism" as detrimental to "the spread of ideals of world peace and justice."

Without mentioning any organization or individual, the committee urged churches of the convention to guard against "the attack" being made on "many eminent workers for world against "the attack" being made on "many eminent workers for world the state of the convention to guard against "the attack" being made on "many eminent workers for world the state of the convention to guard against "the attack" being made on "many eminent workers for world the state of the convention to guard against "the attack" being made on "many eminent workers for world the state of the convention to guard against "the attack" being made on "many eminent workers for world the state of the same thing.

Miss Effle Shaznon, who had one of the incidental rôles in Mr. Tyler's 1927 revival of "Trelawny of the Wells," is to be in "Good Boy!" which is, or will be, something with songs and dances and girls in it.

So far from having been abandoned, the project of starring William Harrison Dempsey in a play named "The Big Fight" is, according to the authors, as live as anything slated for the late Summer of 1928. Miss Estelle Taylor, who is Mrs. Dempsey at the ringside and away from the films, is to be her Neanderthaler's costar in the piece,—which, lest we forget, Mr. Belasco has kindly promised to supervise.

last evening that made the loud speaker resemble an active popcorn shaker over a hot fire there came some mighty fine musical outpourings.

A Spanish-Mexican-American orchestral program through W-G-... 7:30 to 8:20, the continuity (i. e., the story factor) being descriptive of our southern coffee countries. Mostly familiar music, with incidental insertions of Latin-American selections on guitar-like instruments.

A brass band in familiar stirring marches and things that set the feet going and the imagination stirring, from KYW, 8 to 8:30.

from KYW, 8 to 8:30.

A curious Chinese program during the family party hour, through W.G.N, 8:30 to 9; this chop sticking through the "Limehouse Blues," "Chinese Serenade" (Herbert), "A Chinese Wedding," among others by the orchestra; "Chinese Lullaby" and others sung by Miss Olive Kline, soprano; closing with an imitation dialogue between the Venetian traveler and author, Marco Polo (1254-1324) and the great Ghengis Khan. The Chinese instrument, the cheng, was introduced as a novelty.

"The Honeymoon Trail" held the air by right, might, and melody from W-G-N, 9 to 10. Once again the Harry W. Springold players put over an old La Salle theater revival in thoroughly reminiscent fashion.

Lastly, as a climax, was a magnificant performance of Moszkowski's cent performance of Moszkowski's suite for two violins and piano, played by Victor Charbulac and Carl Rink, violinists, and Carl Linner, station planist, WEBH, 10:15 to 10:35. Here was a fascinating piece in four movements, the second of which is particularly ingratiating.

The ideal age for marriage has nothing in actuality, only provided they are sufficient in number or experience to make the two involved realize that the venture is no lark to be gotten.

"Dear Miss Blake: The girl I love says she only likes me. Should I keep up friendship with her? PAUL."

You can't found a true and lasting friendship on arguments. If you find you can't agree, 'twould be better to seek other companions.
